At Meek's late of Bellock, Frontenac county, Ont., and now of "The Pioneer" east of Fort Saskatchewan, desires to say through the Bulletin to his acquaintances in Ontario, who desire information regarding this part of the North West, that he has traveled about seven thousand miles through Manitoba and the North West, visiting Prince Albert and other points in Saskatchewan and many points in Assiniboia and Southern Alberta. That he reached Edmonton on October 20th and is better situated with the Edmonton district than with any other part of the North West. He believes this region will suit Ontario people better than any other on account of the abundance of timber as well as of good pasture and hay land, as well as plenty of good arable land. He himself took land near the Pines on December 20th. He has spent the most of the winter trapping in the Beaver hills and has killed 17 red foxes, 1 black fox, 250 muskrat, 7 timber wolves and 4 coyotes, besides chickens and other small game. The fur caught brought him $70 cash.

THE Calgary Herald, speaking of the recent reduction in freight rates from Edmonton to the Coast says: "The Bulletin in its jubilation can only express its feelings in poetry. It is fairly entitled to do so as this concession is entirely due to its persistence." Of course the reduced rates affect all points between Edmonton and the coast as well.

He was brought down to St. Albert hospital by John Kelly, manager for the firm, reaching there about noon yesterday, where the limb was set by Dr. Benoit. A subscription was made by the men employed at the camp to pay his expenses in the hospital which was supplemented liberally by the firm, in Edmonton. This is the first accident that has occurred in Moore & Macdowell's camps since the firm started business in Edmonton in 1884.

The twelfth number (Feb) of The Canadian Magazine is to hand. In literary merit, and value several of the articles are much above the average of magazine literature. "The schools of the olden times," by "One of the boys"—Hon. D. Mills, is very pleasing. Rev. Frederick George Scott furnishes a literary gem under the title "The Soul Snake." Madge Robertson Watt writes a chatty account of a visit to the rebel flagship, "The Aquidaban," famous for the extraordinary part it has played in the Brazilian revolt. "The Eldorado of British Columbia," a description of a trip in the West Coast by Mrs. E. M. Morgan. "Dunfermline Abbey," by Fred. T. H. de la, and "Men and things in Mexico," by Allan Leigh, are well illustrated articles. Allan Eric writes entertainingly of "The Coconut Palm," as he has seen it in the West Indies, and Rev. Dr. Scadding contributes a valuable paper on pioneer literature in Ontario. Not the least in interest of the contributions is "The Journal of a Solitary," a remarkable production of Alphonse Daudet, translated by Miss Helen Hicks. Miss Agnes Maule Machar, Principal Ross, and others, contribute poetry. The illustrations, including a frontispiece view on Mount Royal, are excellent. The Canadian Magazine is published by the Ontario Publishing Co., Ltd., Toronto, for $2.50 per annum.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, FEBRUARY 19, 1894.

MORE NORMAL SCHOOLS

The BULLETIN must apologize to its readers for occupying so much of its space in this issue with another letter from J. J. Morgan, B. A. of Regina. The space is given not so much because the letter contains anything of value as because it is desirable that the public should know how very little is the best that can be said by the most ardent champion of the regulations in question, even when he has the fullest information—and no doubt advice and authorization as well—from the education department and the prospect of a good situation as a reward for faithful services—provided the education department gets every thing its own way—in his eye. Having admitted Mr. Morgan's letter, some people might wonder what it was all about if no explanation were given. In regard to his first assertion that the BULLETIN made "some statements for which I can find no authority except the BULLETIN," it may be remarked that Mr. Morgan's lack of information is no proof that the BULLETIN's statements were incorrect. Although the education department and Mr. Morgan may know it all—in Mr. Morgan's opinion—he might be persuaded to admit, for the sake of argument, merely, that the BULLETIN may know what is transpiring in its immediate vicinity at least a little sooner if not a little better than the education department or Mr. Morgan. But if he does not choose to admit that he still would do well to remember that in a newspaper controversy he is not engaged in the more congenial task, and the one for which he is plainly much better fitted,—of birching some unfortunate pupil; and that argument and proofs are what are required in this case, not big talk and bluster. As to the question of the closing of the Horse Hills school as a result of the issue of the regulations, the BULLETIN said it was closed on that account, as a matter of fact it was closed on that account—and is closed now, while the teacher has been attending the third class normal session at Calgary. In this particular case the BULLETIN informed itself on the subject before it spoke and it told the truth; while Mr. Morgan either was misinformed by the education department, or he simply lied. In regard to the case in the Edmonton school, Mr. Morgan's statement confirms that of the BULLETIN, that the trustees ignored the regulation by retaining the services of the teacher who had unjustly been declared disqualified. No doubt the education department at Regina had arranged to send a teacher up to fill the vacancy. Reading between the lines of Mr. Morgan's letter it appears quite likely that such arrangements may have been made even before the trustees here were aware that the education department had decided to create a vacancy; for Edmonton pays fairly good salaries and a teacher getting a place here could pay a very nice percentage to the person or persons securing the situation for him or her. Probably by this time it has leaked through the craniums even of Mr. Morgan and his friends of the education department that it is one thing to create a vacancy, and quite another thing to fill it. This country is about a size and a half too large for such business as appears to have been undertaken by Mr. Morgan and his friends, under color of improving the efficiency of the schools of the Territories. Just a word here as to the connection between Mr. Morgan and the education department as shown by his letters. Mr. Morgan has secured certain departmental information regarding teachers and their teaching which it was not the business of the department to furnish to him for any reason, much less for publication. Mr. Morgan secured this information explicitly for publication or he secured it under false pretences. If by the latter means he is not a fit and proper person to have the training of children, though he had half the letters of the alphabet to his name; if by the former he is simply the tool and apologist of the department, which by tendering him the information accepted of his services, and laid itself under more than sentimental obligations to him—provided he could make out a good case. If the teachers are to have the run of the department to such an extent as to be posted on the requirements of every school in the country, as this man seems to be, certainly the one who stands in highest favor with the head of the department has the best chance for the best schools. It is necessary to the increase of efficiency in the school system of the Northwest that there should be fair play as regards teachers; and this does not contain the elements of fair play. Mr. Morgan attempts by the use of quotation marks to convey the idea that the BULLETIN asserted that hundreds of vacancies would be created by the enforcement of the regulation. This is a misquotation by ignorance or by design. Mr. Morgan can take his choice. The words used were: "If the thirteen teachers now out of employment at and about Regina were sufficient to supply all the vacancies in the hundreds of schools in the Territories that would be created by the enforcement of this regulation, the necessity of incurring so great a hardship in so few cases did not exist; unless it were with a view of providing situations for the said noble thirteen." As to the number of schools closed or likely to be closed by the regulation the BULLETIN further said: "If the effect of the regulation which prohibited certain teachers from teaching after a certain date had not the effect of closing the schools in which they taught at least until their teachers had been procured, what effect had it? It either had that effect or it was not given effect." Until Mr. Morgan answers the question or denies the assertion the BULLETIN's position remains unchallenged, and his talk must be taken as deliberately intended to mislead. Mr. Morgan's last paragraph is particularly unfortunate. In asserting that the supply of teachers equals the demand he is probably not aware that the principal argument advanced in favor of the establishment of normal schools in the Territories was that the supply of teachers was not equal to the demand; that therefore it was necessary to provide facilities for the training of teachers in the Territories; that the teaching profession was not on the same footing financially as the other professions to which he alludes and that therefore the same expenses should not be required to be incurred in order to enter it. It was on the strength of arguments such as these that consent was given to the establishment of normal schools in the Territories; and when as soon as they are established they are conducted on lines which make them a barrier rather than a door to the teaching profession, Mr. Morgan will have to consider some of the people of the Territories as decidedly objecting; although his line of argument shows how he might expect to profit very materially by the system of exclusion.

MORE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

REGINA, Feb. 6th 1894.

EDITOR OF BULLETIN.

SIR:—In your answer to my letter of Jan. 18th, you make some statements for which I can find no authority except the BULLETIN. In reply to these I can say that the BULLETIN has access to the education department, its editor is an M. L. A. and before asserting that "a number of schools have been closed" he should have enquired. He now admits that he wrote "without making enquiry." A journalist should remember that he owes it to his readers to make sure of the facts on which he makes charges against public bodies. You—Mr. Editor—mention only two schools out of "the hundreds of vacancies created by the enforcement of the regulations," viz Horse Hills and Edmonton. I have found at the education department that these are not "typical" and not even "solitary." Horse Hills was not closed for Miss ——— taught that school from Sept. 18th. She held a third class non professional certificate and so could not secure admission to the normal last term even had she desired, nor was she asked to attend. If reference is made to the teacher who proceeded Miss ——— that teacher failed to secure a non professional certificate at the mid-summer examination. The normal school regulation could not affect her as she had not the required scholastic qualifications to enter. You surely would not wish to have those teaching who cannot secure a third class certificate when there are more than enough who have full professional standing. If the Edmonton school board had to ignore the regulations rather than close the school, it was not for want of teachers, for the secretary's message to one of the officials here asked that arrangements entered upon for sending up a teacher be not gone on with, and the teacher was not sent. This happened twice. If the regulations have been ignored it is without the knowledge of the department. This I am assured of. I strongly object to the unproved and unprovable assertion about the "vacancies in the hundreds of schools." How many hundreds of schools are there in the Territories? The answers, to the cards sent out by the normal school students show that there are no such vacancies, the records in the department confirm this, and the two illustrations of the BULLETIN do not illustrate. The normalities did not expect vacancies until the beginning of the present year, when new engagements are entered upon, but they are surprised to find how few vacancies there are outside the fertile imagination of a newspaper man. The students would not have addressed the trustees had they not believed that the power to appoint was in their hands and they also believed that the trustees preferred legally qualified teachers, and had no desire to transgress laws made for the benefit of education—laws proved to be beneficial in all countries. The BULLETIN evidently thinks otherwise.

The BULLETIN also cries out about the travelling expenses of teachers and ignores the fact that the want of practice schools is the reason why the normal is held in Regina. The only places in the Territories that approach the necessary number of rooms are Regina, Calgary, Mooseomin and perhaps Prince Albert. But why raise such a moan in behalf of teachers. A youth desiring to enter a university or to enter on the study of medicine or theology must go at least to Winnipeg; why not establish several universities in the territories for these? Teachers enter that calling, because for the time it pays them; no one compels them to enter it, and there is no reason why they should be special objects of charity. If the supply were not equal to the demand there might be some excuse, but it exceeds it, it exceeds it in every Province of the Dominion and it is that which lowers the salaries. Don't worry about our expenses. We enter of our own free will and count the cost before we enter.

PARRY SOUND COLONY.

The following letter which appeared recently in the Echo of Sundridge, Parry Sound district, Ontario, is one of many efforts that are being made to prevent the organization of another Parry Sound colony for the Edmonton district which is now in progress, and in which T. G. Pearce of Agricola, who was chiefly instrumental in bringing up the first colony, is taking a prominent part. The Parry Sound colony has now been here nearly two summers and two winters, and the question as to the suitability of this region as a field for settlement by their friends remaining in Parry Sound, must be settled by this time either favorably or unfavorably. The fact that almost every man who came with the colony is here yet and established on his own farm, and that their numbers were considerably increased by the arrival of friends last summer, is a sufficient answer to the assertions of the letter. If it is not, the joint letter which follows and which is signed by a number of representative men of the colony should be:

A WARNING TO OUR FARMERS.

To the Editor of the Echo.

DEAR SIR, Will you kindly allow a small space in your paper for a few comments upon the advisability of settling in this district being led away by the reports circulated as to the immense advantages to be gained by emigrating to the Northwest.

It seems that sufficient time has elapsed since the emigration of the last colony for a great many to forget the reports that were sent back after that expedition to the treatment received by those who circulated reports which proved to be anything but true after arriving at the end of their journey. They were housed in cold and uncomfortable sheds and left to look after land as best they could, and one of the most reliable men who went with that colony, and one whose name is not on the list being now circulated, stated that he travelled over 2,000 miles before he found a farm that he would prefer to the one he left here not more than three miles from Sundridge, and since then, sir, I have received letters from him stating that it is very hard indeed to get money there, and if this gentleman cannot get along and make money, there is not a man in this district who could, under the same circumstances, as he was possessed of considerable means and plenty of good help, as well as a great deal of the necessary push and enterprise.

Still we find men who are ready to sacrifice all they have here, which has been accumulated under great difficulties and hardships, and be led away to the land represented to be a paradise, when, in reality, many of those who went up there would gladly return to Parry Sound if they could, but are not able to do so and must necessarily stay there.

I have it from a most reliable source that there is more discontent and disappointment at the present time among the settlers there than there is in our district. With wheat at from 37 to 40 cents per bushel, as it is now, can there possibly be any money in it? One of our best settlers from the Township of July, Mr. John McLean, has, I am informed, written back that he is not at all satisfied and intends to come back as soon as his lease expires there, as he only rented a farm, and numerous just such instances can be found.

I have been up in that country in all the seasons of the year, and I think the man who sells all he has here and goes there without first seeing the country for some length of time is very liable to be much disappointed. Any person who has only seen that country in the summer season is not in a position to give a correct opinion of the country. This is the universal sentiment of those who go there. Yours truly, in the interest of our district.

JOHN CARTER.

AGRICOLA, ALTA. Feb. 12th 1894.
L. A. HAMILTON, Esq.
C. P. R. Land Commissioner
Winnipeg.

DEAR SIR: We the undersigned members of the Parry Sound colony who emigrated to Alberta in April 1892, having heard that many untruthful reports are being circulated in Parry Sound district regarding the alleged dissatisfaction said to exist amongst the members of the colony, beg to state that no such discontent or dissatisfaction is expressed by the large majority of our people. With very few exceptions all are happy and content, and are anxious that their old neighbors in Ontario should join them here, and share in the many advantages that Alberta presents to those who are anxious to make home for themselves. We hear that reports are circulated that our people were badly treated on their arrival at Edmonton—this is merely a malicious calumny; the C. P. R. fulfilled to the letter every arrangement made between Mr. Calloway of Toronto, on behalf of the colony. More than this the C. P. R. sent one of their most experienced land guides (Mr. Dowker) to assist in finding suitable homesteads for our people, gratis.

The department of the Interior sent their homestead inspector to help the settlers to locate corner stakes and finding that the stakes had in some cases been destroyed by prairie fire, the deputy minister of the interior immediately authorized surveyors to replace all obliterated stakes. No doubt merchants, postmasters and other persons interested in misleading the struggling population of Parry Sound and keeping them where they are, are very much alarmed at the prospect of seeing a large number of their best farmers emigrate to Alberta, but we beg to remind them in spite of all their misrepresentations, the presence of so many satisfied and contented Parry Sounders in Alberta (630 souls) is sure to cause a steady drain on the population of Parry Sound district.

Money is no more plentiful here than in other parts of Canada, but when a farmer can raise from 30 to 40 bushels of wheat to the acre, 60 to 90 of oats and 40 to 50 of barley, and can winter his cattle in open sheds on hay that costs him nothing but the labor of cutting, can burn coal in his stoves that he can get for the trouble of digging, can own 160 acres of land without a stone on it, part bush and part clear prairie ready for the plough, at a cost of $10, if he is not absolutely unreasonable he will join us in a feeling of thankfulness that we exchanged the rocky and unproductive soil of Parry Sound for the rich slopes and valleys of Alberta.

The winter so far has been very pleasant with very few severely cold days, and the greatest part of the time any man could work in his shirt sleeves without discomfort. We all agree that the Alberta winters are far pleasanter than those of Ontario.

Our reason for addressing this letter to you is that you may be in a position to state that on the whole the Parry Sound colonists are content, and that they are in Alberta to stay not because they can't leave it, but because it "fills the bill" and they have no desire to do so.

Signed,

The local newspaper represents the district in which it is published to the outside world.

GENERAL NEWS.

Parliament is called for March 15th.
The two Italians charged with having murdered another Italian near Grenfell, Assa, last summer, have been found guilty and sentenced to death. They are now in Regina jail.
The Calgary Herald states that Dr. Brett M. L. A. of Banff will likely be a candidate for the representation of Alberta in the Commons at the next general election.

Calgary Tribune: "While No. 1 which arrived in the city yesterday morning, was bearing Gull lake, Mrs. Ball, a passenger ticketed for Calgary, was blown from the platform of the dining car while in the act of returning to the coach. The conductor of the diner acted as Mrs. Ball's escort from the car, but owing to the sudden manner in which the lady was carried from the platform he was unable to render assistance. The train was immediately brought to a standstill, and Mrs. Ball, who it was found had fortunately alighted upon a snowdrift, was picked up and taken to the Medicine Hat Hospital, where the injuries she received were promptly looked after." It is a wonder that such accidents are not more frequent.
